/ OUTLOOK

Brad is a pure and versatile scorer who can play 1-3. He showed throughout his college career that he can score in a variety of ways. He is most comfortable attacking off the dribble or pulling up from midrange or behind the three-point line. Despite his size, he has no problem finishing against bigger defenders. His quick first step makes him difficult to defend. He has effective step back and crossover moves, which he uses to create space or counter pressure defense. Even though he scored more than 20ppg this season he was also a good facilitator. He is not a volume shooter, rather he is patient and selective. He is a willing passer and capable ball handler.

Brad has the potential to be a great on-the-ball defender. His length and quickness make it difficult for opposing players. He has all the tools to be a menace on defense.
